

Dear September 2020 NQT's,

We currently have a large number of our partnered schools in London requesting assistance with their search for NQTs ready for either a Summer or September 2020 start date.

These schools are all offering permanent positions and are based in either inner or outer London. With resignation deadline approaching at the end of this week, we are likely to have many more requests in the coming days.

If you are considering a relocation for your NQT induction year then please email me at angela@nqtcollaborative.co.uk or if you would prefer, you can call me on 0203 488 4722.

We specialise in assisting trainee teachers relocate to London and would be very happy to talk you through the process. We can then support you in finding a permanent post in a school that best matches your specifications and priorities.

The interview process at the moment is virtual, mainly via Zoom, Microsoft Teams and Google Meet. So far we have found that this has actually sped up the process with many candidates being offered positions after just one formal interview.

Please do take a look at our Trust Pilot for recent reviews from fellow Trainee teachers:

We hope to hear from you soon.

Kind regards,

Angela
